Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. Wheat, Old Corn, and Maryland Tobacco,

PURCHASED BY
Oct 4 LAWRASON & FOWLE.

Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that it may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of those banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown,
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May, 1819.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1819.

New-Bedford, June 11.

A letter has been received from William Willshire, Esq. dated Mogadore, April 17, in which he mentions his expecting in a few days an express from Wadinoon with terms for the redemption of Lemuel Gifford, late of the brig Mary of this port, wrecked about 12 months since on the coast of Barbary. He also enclosed a letter he had received from Gifford, who informed that he was seventy-five days with Job Miller, who was shot by the natives and his thigh broken; that when he left, Miller was not able to walk. Gifford said he had been kept by Hamet about three months, who employed him twenty-seven days driving camels from the south, and forty days digging up bushes. He had changed masters, and had been employed by his new master four days out of nine in backing mud; he had given him a pair of shoes and a shirt, but kept him at very hard service. We sincerely hope it will not be long before both Gifford and Miller will be restored to their country and their friends.

ENGLISH LAWS OF MARRIAGE.

In the British house of commons, in April, a bill to prevent the possibility of the marriages of minors being declared null, unless application to that effect be made within a reasonable time, was carried in opposition to lord Castlereagh and the law officers of the crown. It seems from the speeches of Sir James Mackintosh and Dr. Phillimore, that by the existing laws of marriage in England, the unfortunate children of the marriages of minors might be, and frequently had been, declared illegitimate; the marriages themselves annulled; the unhappy wife sent back into the world, deprived of her name and her reputation, while the husband, who in many cases devised this unmanly triumph over innocence, was rewarded for his guilt, by a liberation from those sacred engagements into which he had basely entered, with the knowledge that he could at pleasure free himself from them. [Philadelphia Franklin Gaz.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM.

A motion made in the French legislature this spring, to enforce respect to the established religion of the French empire, and to punish outrages against it, was negatived, on the ground that sectarians associate peaceably together only while they enjoy the liberty of differing, and that they cannot be prevented by legal restrictions from attacking the dogmas of each other. "You may," said the keeper of the seals, "drag them to prison; you may load them with chains; they will still preach the same gospel. Destroy their liberty, you become tyrannical, and you do not attain your aim." We rejoice to see this liberal and enlightened policy avowed by the cabinet of France. The example of America completely demonstrates, that pure and vital religion flourishes best under the genial shade of liberty and universal toleration.

From the American Centinel.

Extract from the minutes of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in the United States, at their late session, in the city of Philadelphia.

"The General Assembly, viewing with deep interest the present state of our country, and more especially the commercial embarrassments which press upon every part of the United States, and the spirit of corrupt and mischievous speculation, which is probably to be regarded as both a cause and an effect of these embarrassments, feel it to be their duty to take this notice of this unhappy state of things, and to express their opinion of the proper remedy.

The Assembly, then, are persuaded that the evils so general in their prevalence, and so severe in their pressure, primarily on the commercial and manufacturing portions of the community, but, in a considerable degree, on all, owe their origin, in a great measure, to that spirit of cupidity, of adventurous and unjustifiable speculation, of extravagance and luxury, which so unhappily prevails in our country; and also, in no small degree, to the want of that kind of education which is calculated to prepare youth for solid usefulness in the church, and in civil society. The Assembly, therefore, are firmly persuaded, that the effectual remedy for these evils, under God, is to be found only, in a recurrence to those principles and duties of our holy religion, which are not less conducive to the temporal welfare of man, than to their eternal happiness: and they have no hope that general prosperity can be restored to our country, until there is a return to those habits of industry, temperance, moderation, economy, and general virtue, which our common christianity inculcates.

Under these impressions, the Assembly would earnestly exhort the churches and people under their care, to take into due consideration the opinions above expressed; to cultivate in themselves, and to endeavor to promote in others, those simple, frugal and regular pursuits, which cannot fail to exert a most benign influence on the best interests of society; and to train up their children in those principles and habits which will prepare them at once to be useful members of the church and useful citizens. They would, especially, intreat those individuals and families belonging to their communion, whom God has been pleased to favor with temporal wealth, to consider the peculiar importance of their setting an edifying example; so that their whole influence may be employed to discourage fashionable vices and amusements, and to promote the simplicity and purity of christian practice. And the Assembly wo'd, also, earnestly exhort all the ministers in their communion to make these sentiments a subject of frequent and serious address to the people of their respective pastoral charges, and to endeavor, by all the means in their power to impress on the minds of their hearers, the all important truth, that the religion of Jesus Christ, in its vital power and practical influence, is the best friend of civil society, as well as essential to the eternal well being of man."

Published by order of the Assembly.

LATEST FROM FRANCE.

By the brig Tybee, the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have received from their correspondent Paris papers to the 31st April. A letter from Havre of the 1st of May, says—

"Business continues very dull—prices of cotton have again given way—Uplands have been sold at 36 sous; New-Orleans of prime quality continue at 46, on account of their scarcity—but common and ordinary do not fetch more than 40 to 43. Nothing doing in Sea Islands. Ashes totally forgotten."

French Stocks April 29th, 67, 20.

New-York, June 16.

The following was yesterday received by a mercantile house in this city, from their correspondent.

Havre, May 2d, 1819.

"Business still remains limited in its operations. Money however has become abundant at Paris, and all outstanding engagements have been liquidated—but speculation is kept in check by the dreadful state of the English markets.

"Carolina and Louisiana cottons sell at the quotations; of the former we have 6000 bales, and of the latter 2000 bales. Rice dull at 29f. in bond. Coffee and pepper abundant and without demand.

"No further derangements are contemplated among the commercial men here and at Paris. Confidence is coming round, and as soon as an amelioration takes place in the English markets, business will, I expect, resume its wonted activity here."

Capt. Davidson, from Porto Rico, informs that it was currently reported from Marguerretta that Com. Jolly had been displaced from the command of his squadron of five sail, his conduct not having been satisfactory to admiral Brion. [Mer. Adv.

POLITICS FOR FARMERS.

For nearly thirty years, the agricultural interest of the United States prospered beyond all example. The revolutions and convulsions of Europe drew from agriculture and the arts connected with it, millions of men, and placed them in armies or navies—converting them from producers into consumers. Waste and destruction, inevitable in all wars, increased the deficiency of provisons, which this transformation occasioned. Our farmers had this immense deficiency to supply. This gave them ready markets and high prices The strongest stimulants to industry and enterprize: and at the same time the greatest temptations to luxury and extravagance. Wealth flowed into our country in every direction. Our ship owners pocketed the freight: our merchants the profits of the trade; our farmers the amount of their surplus produce; and from them money found its way to every class of society.

These prosperous days are now over—Europe reposes in peace. Thousands of her sons have exchanged the implements of war, for those of husbandry and its sister arts. From consumers they have again become producers. Europe can now provide for herself, and supply her colonies. Our farmers, their produce being no longer needed abroad, must rely on home consumption. This cannot produce so great a demand, nor such high prices as they have been accustomed to. Consequently, their income will be greatly reduced, and much more precarious. What is to be done?—They cannot change the condition of Europe; force nations to take their produce who do not want it; nor compel individuals to buy more than they eat. They cannot, in a full market, and with few purchasers, fix their own prices. What are they to do?

The whole remedy lies in two words—INDUSTRY and ECONOMY.

By industry I do not mean a more faithful cultivation of the soil; but,

They must make in their families every thing necessary and convenient, which it is in their power to make; but which their surplus produce has heretofore enabled them to purchase cheaper, as they thought than they could manufacture.

They must dispense with many articles of extravagance and luxury, which in more prosperous times, they indulged themselves and their families in.

They must prefer domestic manufactures to foreign; (which they will find cheaper in the end) and thus invite useful population from abroad, increase home consumption, and improve our own markets.

This course of industry and economy pursued by an individual, will leave a balance in his favor at the end of the year with the merchant with whom he trades, and who has taken his produce.

The same course, pursued by the country generally, will leave a balance in our favor with the nations with whom we trade.

A contrary course, must involve the individual, and the nation, in debt and embarrasment, and lead to distress and ruin.

These hints, though the off-spring of observation and reflection, are hastily thrown together, merely to draw public attention to a subject intimately connected with individual and national prosperity and happiness. Let it become the general topic of consideration and conversation, and the good sense of the people will lead them to a system of conduct which will overcome present difficulties, and provide against future emergencies.

Those who do not see the truth of these suggestions now, will soon feel it. They have to choose between advice and experience.

AGRICULTURAL.

In an English newspaper of February last, we find the following article. It is one of the most impressive facts to establish the advantages of improved cultivation of the soil, that we have ever read, if the fact, is to be credited, and we have no reason to disbelieve it more than any other, derived from the same source respecting improvements in the arts, sciences, &c.—We do not copy this under the impression that this mode of cultivation can ever be employed otherwise than experimentally, but to shew what can be accomplished by system and industry. Here are an hundred and thirty four bushels of wheat raised from an acre of ground. The highest product we have ever heard of being realized in this country, on the most fertile land, was fifty bushels. The average crop, throughout the Union, is probably not more than ten bushels, if so much; in England, it is rated, according to the following article, at more than thirty, by the ordinary mode of cultivation. The difference in these averages is again owing to the difference in the mode of culture.

From an English Paper.

GREAT CROPS.

Mr. Falla gives an instance of land cultivated by the spade, and the wheat planted in lines by a dibble, with plants previously raised in a seed bed producing the enormous return of seventeen quarters of wheat to an acre! The average produce in the ordinary mode of cultivation, is not more than four quarters; so that the extra expense is more than repaid fourfold. The expense of digging an acre of ordinary land at nursery price, he states to be 33s. & this he adds, is an operation worth two ploughings; and besides, by planting the wheat there is a great saving in seed. In the usual mode of broad cast, it requires two bushels to the acre; but, in planting, one peck is sufficient. Mr. F. also states, that by spade husbandry he has produced a crop of potatoes, amounting to the almost incredible quantity of 800 bushels produce! and he gives it as his opinion, that the more general use of the spade would have the most beneficial effect, not only upon the agricultural laborers themselves, but on their employers also; for, though the farmer might not be able to find laborers to cultivate large quantities of land in this way, he might at least cultivate sufficient to employ his quota of the laborers of his parish, and so at once exonerate the poor rates, and be himself amply repaid.

From the Catskill Recorder.

SINGULAR FACTS IN NATURAL HISTORY.

A correspondent at Cairo, under date of May 28, requests us to insert the following:

On Friday last, as Mr. John Barker and son, of this town, were in the woods about half a mile from his house, they discovered a large black snake, which they killed.—James Barker then stripped some bark from a tree, tied it around its neck, and then with his father proceeded home to dinner, dragging the snake after him—on arriving at the house they left the snake near the door, and retired to dinner; when they returned to the snake they observed another snake lying by its side, (probably its mate) which they killed. This latter snake had followed the track of the other, and crossed on a board or in the water, a creek nearly a rod wide. One measured 6 feet, the other 5 feet 9 inches.

FROM THE HAVANA.

By the ship Pierse Manning, Captain Campbell, we have received from our Correspondent, Havana papers to the 31st May, and a letter, of which the following is a copy:—

"Havana, May 31.

"I sent you a Price Current of the 22d inst. per the Roderick, via Savannah, with corrections up to the 28th inst. Coffee continues to droop, and prime parcels have been offered in the market at 20½—18 and 20 is a fair quotation of the day. Rice is enquired for and has a good prospect—also beef and codfish. The drought has been excessive throughout the country, so much so, that the planters are at a non plus how to feed their negroes—this, together with the extreme high price and scarcity of jerked beef is the cause of the present demand for provisions—within this day or two past some light rains have fallen; tho' the coffee estates have suffered much, and we apprehend has caused a failure of the last and principal blossom; consequently the coming crop of coffee will be small.

By the arrival of a packet from Santa Martha, some rumors have spread that Porto Bello is in possession of Sir Gregor M'Gregor, and that Lord Cochrane's fleet is at Panama. Information on this subject is so difficult to be obtained, that I will no vouch for the veracity of what I communicate. His Catholic Majesty's ship of the line Asia, arrived here yesterday from Vera Cruz, likewise a frigate from Cadiz, they bring nothing important.

The brig Catharine, of your port, capt. Wellsman, has arrived from Gibraltar in 44 days, is discharging, and will sail for Charleston in the course of next week.

Nothing has ever been heard of the Legal Tender, it is very much feared that she is lost, and that all on board have perished.

Our city and harbor is very sickly, and cases of the most malignant nature occur daily. Mr. John Lynch, of the house of Lynch and Martin, of this place, was buried yesterday. The weather is extremely hot, and we fear it will be a fatal season for foreigners in this place." [Times.

Communicated for the Montreal Courant.

The strongest minds when seriously bent upon one great object are apt entirely to forget and neglect all minor considerations. This was particularly exemplified in the late general Brock, when colonel of the 49th regiment, at the battle of Copenhagen. He chose the poop of the Ganges 74 (on board of which a part of his regiment was) as his station during the action, and was walking to and fro contemplating the scene before him apparently with great attention. Mr. I. S. Brock, paymaster of the regiment, had taken charge of one of the cannonades immediately under the break of the poop, and was working with great industry. Stooping to ascertain whether its elevation was correct, a grape-shot entered the port-hole, and passing through his hat grazed a little of the hair off the crown of his head. Having felt the part, and ascertaining that no injury had been received, he immediately seized the lanyard of the lock and fired off the piece.—At this moment, Mr. Thomas Doige,* (now of this city) then signal midshipman of the Ganges, and stationed on the poop, (to whom we are indebted for the most minute account of that engagement, as published in Southey's life of Nelson) enquired of the colonel if he had noticed the fortunate escape of Mr. Brock. The colonel, upon being informed of it, immediately ordered Mr. Brock below, where he had been stationed to assist the surgeon. He made a feint to obey, but the moment the colonel walked aft on the poop, he was again at the gun; and although he continued to fight during the remainder of the action immediately under the eye of the colonel, the latter was so absorbed in contemplation that he never noticed his return.

On the same occasion, captain (now admiral) Freemantle, who commanded the Ganges, after having given some particular orders to the master, Mr. Stuart, and to the pilot, about the position to be taken by the ship in the line, walked forward to the forecastle. He had scarcely parted from them when a round shot of considerable size pierced through the hammocks of the gangway nettings, and passing thro' the heart of the mainmast, glanced by the pilot sufficiently close to drive a watch which he wore into his groin, (of which wound he afterwards died) and striking Mr. Stuart full in the front, instantly killed him. The pilot was assisted to the cockpit—the master lay dead on the deck; directly after this, captain Freemantle coming aft, perceived the corpse of Mr. Stuart, and ordered it to be carried below; yet in less than five minutes after, he was calling for him with as much confidence of his being in existence as if he stood beside him, and when informed by Mr. Doige that he was no more, recovered his recollection—pointed to the place where he had seen him lie—ejaculated "poor Stuart"—shrugged up his shoulders, and walked away.

Even the immortal Nelson himself fought under the signal (I think) No. 62, "to engage closer" during the whole of that engagement, although well aware that the ships of the line were all at anchor, and could not vary their stations.

HISTORICUS.

* Mr. Doige formerly reported the proceedings of the legislature of New-York for several of the printers.

KOTZEBUE.

The following biographical sketch is extracted from the Journal des Debats:—

M. Auguste de Kotzebue was the son of a Counsellor of Legation of the Duke of Weimar. Being appointed at the age of 20, private secretary to general Baur, one of the best informed military officers in the service of Russia, he gained the good will of the Empress Catharine, who employed him to compose some pieces for her theatre of The Hermitage. A romantic affection united him to a Russian young lady of noble family. He rose rapidly to the post of President of the Civil Government of Revel, in Esthonia, and to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He was decorated with several orders. The independence of his mind caused him to give in his resignation in 1795. He accepted in 1796, the functions of Director of the Theatre of Vienna; but he soon became disgusted with an office surrounded with difficulties and disagreements.

On his return to Russia, in the spring of 1800, he was arrested on the frontier of the empire and conducted to Kurgan, a handsome little town in Siberia, where he enjoyed his full liberty, and had his pieces played by the inhabitants. His numerous friends soon removed the erroneous opinion entertained of him by the Emperor Paul; and that monarch having called him to his court, loaded him with marks of kindness. During the first years of the reign of Alexander, he travelled in France, Italy, and Germany. He appeared to settle at Berlin, where he undertook a journal; but having offended Bonaparte, he withdrew for several years to his small estate in Esthonia. Admiration and hatred found him out in his retreat. While the Moniteur thundered against him, the Agricultural Society sent him ploughing machines, and the English Admiral commanding in the Baltic gave orders to let this pacific present pass freely. Kotzebue took a share in the manifestoes and diplomatic notes of Russia, in the years of 1811 and 1812. The Emperor Alexander rewarded him by naming him at first, in 1813, Consul General at Konigsberg; and by attaching him afterwards in 1816, to the department of Foreign Affairs, with the title of Councillor of State.

The climate of Russia being unsuited to his delicate health, the Emperor Alexander gave him leave, in 1817, to travel in Germany as long as he thought proper, and continued all his appointments, without imposing any condition but the honorable one of making him reports on the state, literary, political, and moral of that country. Being informed of the fanatical rage that was excited against him in the Universities, he had demanded his passports to return to Russia, when an assassination almost unexampled terminated his life. He was only 58 years of age, but the public considered him to have been very old, because he had commenced his literary career very young, and during 40 years his numerous writings formed subjects of conversation.

'Dum numerat palmas, credidit esse senem.'

Kotzebue was twice married, and has left 14 children. The eldest is a captain in the Austrian service. M. Otto de Kotzebue, a lieutenant of a vessel in the Russian service has already rendered himself famous by a voyage round the world, the expense of which was defrayed by the munificence of the illustrious Chancellor of Russia, the Count de Romanzow. Another brother, Maurice, an officer in the Russian army, has published an account of the Russian Embassy to Persia, to which he was attached. Thus the talents of the sons seem still to adorn the illustrious name left to them.

Married,

On Thursday last, by the Rev. William H. Wilmer, SAMUEL LINDSAY, esq. of the house of Lindsay & Hill, to Miss JANE W. McDOUGALL, all of this town.

On Tuesday evening last, by the Rev. O. H. Norris, Mr. WM. M. McCAULEY, of Washington, to Miss ELIZA DUFFY, of this place.

Is is further ordered, that the old side stones be used for stepping stones across such street as the committee may order.—The expense to be charged to the third ward.

The petition of Edmund I. Lee and others, was referred to Messrs. Keene, Neale and Mandeville, with directions to report thereon, and to suggest such other improvements as may be necessary in the Market square.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and is further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth round about jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.
